TO PROHIBIT SALE OF NEAR BEER BY LAW

House Passed Bill on Yesterday.

NOW IN SENATE.

The First Bill To Pass Either Branch of Legislature—Senator Hobgood Introduces Bill to Create Commission Form of Government For Greensboro—Dillard Introduces It In the House—Other Business.

Raleigh, Jan. 5.—The first bill passed by the house was introduced by Representative Roy, of Macon, and prohibits the sale of near beer and other drrinks containing alcohol. The bill was sent to the senate for action.

Senator Hobgood introduced in the Senate a bill providing the commission form of government for Greensboro and Representative Dillard introduced a like measure in the House. The bill requires that an election be held in Greensboro on the first Tuesday in February at which the citizens will be given an opportunity to ratify or reject the proposed form.

Senator Hobgood is made chairman of the committee on judicial districts and is on committees on appropriations, education, insurance, military, game and deaf and dumb.

Senate.

The Senate convened at 11 o'clock and Rev. W. McC. White, of the First Presbyterian church, offered prayer.

A message was received from the House that that body was duly organized; also a message concurring in the joint resolution appointing a joint committee to wait upon the governor regarding his message.

Bills introduced:

McDonald, of Moore: Providing a more effective registration and indexing of deeds and other instruments.

Hobgood, of Guilford: Amending the charter of Greensboro.

Thorne, of Nash: Relating to the rights and liabilities of married women.

Johnson, of Duplin, inquired as to the duties of the stenographers in the office of the engrossing clerk and was informed that they were not required to write the private correspondence of senators, but if not busy might be engaged to write letters for senators.

Governor's Message Received.

A messenger was announced from the governor and Col. A. J. Field, private secretary, was introduced and he presented the governor's message. It was read by the clerk. A resolution, offered by Graham, of Orange, was adopted directing that 500 copies of the governor's message be printed for the use of the Senate and different portions of it referred to such committees as the presiding officer shall deem appropriate.

President Newland stated that in a conversation with the secretary of state yesterday he was informed that 66 per cent. of the bills passed by the last general assembly were passed within the last ten days of the session and urged the members to have all local legislation enacted at the beginning in order that the latter part of the session might devoted to general legislation.

The president announced the standing committees and the Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock tomorrow, that hour having been fixed for convening, except on Mondays when the Senate will meet at 12 m.

The House.

The House convened at 11 o'clock, Speaker Dowd presiding. The first hour and a half was devoted to the reading of the biennial message of Gov. Kitchin. The reading of the message was given the closest attention by members and people who thronged the lobbies and galleries.

Bills introduced:

Ewart, of Henderson: Resolution requesting North Carolina members of Congress to support New Orleans as place for the Panama celebration. Resolution requesting congressmen to vote for the parcels post, act.

Nunn, of Craven: Remedy a defect in a bond issue for New Bern streets. Passed its readings later in the day.

Dillard, of Guilford: Provide new charter for Greensboro.

Ray of Macon: Prohibit the sale of any beverage containing alcohol, particularly near beer, beerine and malt.

Taylor, of Hertford: Appoint justices of the peace for Hertford county.

Ewart, of Henderson: Endorse Federal constitution amendment for income tax.

Ray, of Macon, called up his bill prohibiting the sale of near beer, beerine and malts and all drinks containing any alcohol and asked that it be put upon its readings at once. It passed its readings with number of noes on the final reading. And was ordered sent to the Senate without engrossment.

Bill to appoint Dr. Mitchell, of Hertford, a justice of the peace for four years was called up and passed readings.

The House adjourned at 1:30 to 11 o'clock Friday.

HOW H. H. ROGERS SAVED COREY

"If We Correct Morals, Let Us Begin With the Board," He Said.

New York, Jan. 5.—In connection with William Ellis Corey's resignation as president of the United States Steel Corporation, an interesting story is told in Wall street of an effort that was made at the time of his marriage to Mabelle Gilman to force him to sever his connection with the company.

As the story is told. Mr. Corey's troubles with the first Mrs. Corey and his subsequent marriage to Miss Gilman were taken up at a meeting of the directors, from which Mr. Corey had purposely absented himself.

At this meeting practically every member of the board, including J. P. Morgan, James Gayley (since resigned) and George W. Perkins, was present, with Judge Gary presiding.

A formal motion calling upon Mr. Corey to resign was offered and two or three members advocated its adoption, urging that Mr. Corey's marital affairs had destroyed his usefulness as president of the company and that the head of the corporation of the high standing of the Steel Corporation should be like Caesar's wife and free from any suspicion of scandal. These speakers were followed by the late Henry H. Rogers.

"I have listened," said Mr. Rogers, "with a great deal of interest to the remarks made upon this motion. When we hired Mr. Corey we did not consider his morals. We considered only his great ability as a steel maker. That ability, I believe, is a valuable asset to this corporation. I do not believe it is the least impaired by Mr. Corey's marital trouble. I believe it should be retained as an asset of the corporation.

"However, it may be that the gentlemen who have preceded me are right. It may be that we should consider an attempt to regulate the morals and the private lives of those connected with the Steel Corporation, but, if this is the case, I do not think we should commence with Mr. Corey. Let us start in with the gentlemen sitting at this board."

The motion was tabled unanimously.

WAITED FOR HER MANY YEARS

John E. Nelson, of Bladensburg, At Last Marries His Sweetheart.

Washington, Jan. 5.—The death of an aged mother in the little town of Langley, in Fairfax county, Va., opened the way fo rthe culmination of a courtship extending over a period of many years, and made possible the marriage here of John E. Nelson, 62 years old, of Bladensburg Md., and Miss Bertie Walters, of Langley, Va., who is 52 years old. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Howard Wells, pastor of the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal church, South, of this city.

Mr. Nelson, who is a respected merchant of Bladensburg, was an old boyhood sweetheart of his bride. The long illness of her mother, however, prevented the marriage. A long time ago they agreed to wait until Mr. Nelson had made his way in the world and accumulated. He went to work with a will and accomplished this end long ago. Then the mother fell ill, and her daughter would not leave her without proper care. Several months ago death released the now elderly woman from her vigil, and the years of disappointment were ended when they stood before Rev. Mr. Wells today and were made one.

Charged With Assault.

Will Green was arrested last night on the charge of assaulting W. R. Allen. The case will be tried Saturday in Municipal court.

THE PROHIBITION LAW IS PRAISED

By Governor in His Message.

Says Results Fully Justify Its Adoption—Morality and Industry Have Increased — Recommendations As to Changes In Law—A State Wide Primary Law Is Recommended—Also Country Life Schools.

Raleigh, Jan. 5.—The biennial message of Governor Kitchin was read before the Senate and House this morning. It was heard with much interest by the members and a large number of spectators as well, about an hour being consumed in reading the message.

The governor briefly reviews the progress made and makes recommendations regarding a number of laws that should be passed or amended. He refers to the necessity of preserving the health of the people and speaks of the value of good roads and proper drainage. An increased appropriation for Confederate veterans is recommended. It is recommended that the Legislature be conservative in its appropriations, but the State's institutions should be well taken care of, especially the asylums of the insane, deaf and dumb and blind. The governor touches on trusts and recommends that the present laws be amended. He recommends certain insurance legislation and discussed the requirement that mileage be exchanged for tickets.

He speaks of the State prohibition law and recommends additional legislation, saying "Prohibition has now been in force throughout the State for two years. This is a short period with which to measure the effects of a reform movement. We have done little more than planted the seed, whose full fruitage will be gathered by coming generations. And yet already the results fully justify its adoption. There has been, as appears from the attorney general's report, based upon superior court statistics, a marked diminution in crime, even in the crime of violating the prohibition law. Business has experienced increase rather than diminished prosperity. Morality, industry and frugality have increased, and politics and government have been to a great extent relieved of one of their most corrupting influences.

"The greatest hindrance to its enforcement, except the interstate commerce clause of the federal constitution, is probably the licensing of persons to sell near-beer, and similar beverages. Evil disposed persons use such license as a cloak to aid them in violating the prohibition law; and they quite frequently obtain a federal license to sell intoxicating liquors. I recommend that the near-beer saloons be prohibited. In case you permit the continuance of near-beer licenses, then you should provide that the holding of federal license to sell intoxicants shall forfeit the near-beer license."

Governor Kitchin speaks of work along agricultural lines and recommends the establishment of Country Life schools, the measure asked for by the farmers of the State.

In his address the governor recommends that a law requiring that the primaries of both parties throughout the State be held on the same day and at the expense of the State. He also asks that the power of veto be conferred upon the governor. The governor reviews the need of a revision in the legislative machinery of the State and recommends that provision be made whereby one general law will do away with the necessity for local legislation affecting cities, towns and counties, it being evident that the people and officials of the places interested can, if given power, pass adequate rules and ordinances. He would prohibit the Legislature from passing small local laws in order that it might give more serious thought to the more general laws and needs of the State.

He favors the Federal income tax amendment, recommends an increase of salary for the governor, fixing it at $6,000, and calls attention to the fact that the governor cannot employ counsel to assist in prosecutions nor employ detectives to ferret out crime. A redistricting of the judiciary is recommended. There are also a number of recommendations touching upon different matters. The document contains twelve newspaper columns of matter.

IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Verdict For Plaintiff In Case of Talbott Vs. Southern Railway Company.

In Guilford Superior Court yesterday afternoon the jury in the case of J. T. Talbott vs. Southern Railway Company returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff damages in the sum of $500. The suit was to recover damages because of injuries alleged to have been received while the plaintiff was in the employ of the defendant. Stedman & Cooke represented the plaintiff, while Wilson & Ferguson appeared for the railroad.

In the case of Alice Edwards vs. Life Insurance Company of Virginia the plaintiff was given judgment. A negro by the name of Alex Edwards died some time ago, having a policy in the company, Alice Edwards, designated as wife, being the beneficiary. Soon afterwards a brother of the deceased qualified as administrator and demanded that the amount called for be paid to him. The company paid the money into the court and allowed suit to be instituted, leaving the burden on the court to decide as to whom the money should be paid. The administrator was represented by G. M. Patton and the plaintiff in the case by Stern & Stern.

Just before court adjourned for the day the case of G. H. McKinney, administrator of John W. Nunn, deceased, vs. North Carolina Railroad Company was taken up. The suit is to recover damages on account of injuries inflicted by the defendant company, alleged to have caused the death of Nunn. Nunn was injured about two years ago in Greensboro. The case will likely take up all of today.

MR. E. R. FISHBLATE DIES IN NEW YORK

Death Announced In Telegram From Mr. R. I. Katz—Body to Arrive This Morning.

Yesterday morning Mr. C. M. Vanstory received a telegram Mr. R. I. Katz in New York, chronicling the sad death of Mr. E. R. Fishblate, father-in-law of Mr. Katz and a close friend of Mr. Vanstory.

The body will arrive this morning at 7 o'clock and will be taken direct to Mr. Vanstory's home on Elm street, where a simple service will be conducted, at 11 o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Green Hill cemetery where it will be laid to rest beside that of the wife.

Mr. Fishblate used to be one of Greensboro's leading merchants. He came to Greensboro and entered business when the place was little more than a village, occupying a store near where the Vanstory clothing store is now conducted, and at a time when Elm street was divided into both farming and mercantile sections. Mr. Vanstory was for ten years manager of the Fishblate business, and it was during this time that an intimate and lifelong friendship developed between the two men.

After the death of his wife, Mr. Fishblate decided to travel, and went to New York to enter the service of a large wholesale house. The wife of Mr. Katz, from whom the telegram was received, is the only child surviving.

There are still in Greensboro many citizens who will remember Mr. Fishblate with kindly sentiment because of his kindliness and upright qualities and his integrity of heart, and will be pained at the news of his death.

Following are the pallbearers: Messrs C. H. McKnight, W. R. Rankin, W. B. Merrimon, R. R. King, Neil Ellington, C. D. Benbow, Caesar Cone, James E. Tomlinson, and Jno. W. Crawford.

A BIG FIRE ON CHURCH STREET

John M. Dick's Barn is Destroyed.

Flames Discovered Shortly Before Midnight and Entire Department Was Soon on Scene—All the Horses and Cows, Also Wagons, Gotten Out, But Several Hundred Dollars Worth of Feed Was Burned—A Hot Fire.

The feed barn and stables belonging to Mr. John M. Dick, 455 Church street, were destroyed by fire last night, the blaze being discovered about 11:30 o'clock. The barn was burned to the ground, only a few smouldering timbers remaining when the firefighters finally conquered. The horses, cows and wagons and a number of chickens were gotten out, but a great quantity of feed was burned. The loss will amount to about $2,000.

Mr. Dick first discovered the fire, just as he was preparing to retire. He phoned the Steamers and about the same time box 17 was pulled. In a few minutes box 21 was pulled by another party, bringing the entire department to the scene. The firemen soon had a stream on the building and while the water was being used to beat the flames back men rushed into the stables and led, shoved and beat the horses out, while others assisted in running the laundry wagons and buggies out of the reach of the flames. There were nine horses and two cows in the stables and these were gotten out safely. A number of chickens were taken from the building, being too frightened to offer resistance.

Stored in the loft was over $500 worth of feed, mostly hay, and the feed being dry as tinder the flames eat away through the mass as if it was a tempting morsel. The blaze leapt high in the sky and the heat was so intense that the ground was thawed for fifty feet from the building. The conflagration made a great light and hundreds of people dressed and hurried to the scene.

Once the stock was safe the efforts of the firemen were directd in saving a shed at one corner of the barn and in preventing the flames from bursting forth with such fury at the end nearest the house. Time and again did it seem that the flames would burst through, but the well directed efforts of the firemen kept them at bay until the larger portion of the building was consumed. In this way the fire was kept in the barn, for had the flames burst forth in all their fury a large pile of old timber and an outhouse between the barn and the house would have been burned, thus endangering the residence, only a few feet away.

The water main along the street is not over six inches, it was stated, and for this reason only one line of hose was laid, it being evident that this line with strong pressure could be used to better advantage than two lines with weak pressure.

Mr. Dick stated last night that he had not the least idea as to how the fire originated. Unless it was of incendiary origin it is probable that someone dropped a match in putting the horses up for the night. It was evident that the fire had gained but little headway when discovered.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY CURE

MEN WHO DON'T FLY.

Glenn Curtis Has Given it Up; The Wrights Have Left it to Others. "Tip" in New York Press.

Glenn Curtiss has given up flying. Orville Wright infrequently sails in a biplane. Wilbur Wright has been in a machine only once in 12 months. All three men know that death is near them in an aeroplane. The Wrights have reason for caution. They invented the first practical flying machine and risked their lives in proving it. Undoubtedly they have many excellent ideas and scientific propositions in their heads or on paper that they expect to test. They have been made to see the truth that they owe it to science and the world not to take any undue risk until they have developed the ideas.

Wilbur Wright has figured out the chances of life and death in practically every kind of a flight. A few minutes' conversation with him would convince anyone that he has worked out with the keenness of a gambler the chances of success or failure. He will tell you that flying over a city an airman has one chance in forty or fifty to win success by keeping his motor running. Should the motor stop there is no hope cutting across the skyscrapers. In flights across lakes or the British Channel Wright says there is one chance in forty of being killed. He disapproves speed contests, realizing that there are greater chances of mishaps than in any other sort of flying.

Wilbur Wright took up flying for his health. Everybody laughs at Wilbur when he makes this remark, and in view of the events of the last few days it seems all the more amazing. Fact is, however, that he took to aviation as a cure for nervous indigestion and heart trouble. He decided to get out doors more anl hit upon the glider as a means of taking fresh air and employing his mind. Wright worked along this line and, it is said, he improved greatly in health meanwhile he was flying regularly. Since he has refrained from it and has devoted himself to outdoor work almost exclusively he has not been so well.

Accidents take the nerve of aviators. Walter Brookins, who at one time was considered the most daring airman in the world, used to fly a Wright machine, making turns almost on the length of the biplane, and, in fact, has the record of making a turn in less than five seconds. He was in two accidents which alomst cost him his life. He saw Ralph Johnstone killed in Denver, and on last Saturday saw Hoxsey killed in Los Angeles. Brookins used to say, "I don't know what fear is." He has a mother, however, who has become worried about him. It has been observed that he no longer makes trials for great altitude or speed.

Saves Two Lives.

"Neither my sister nor myself might be living today, if it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery," writes A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C., R. F. D. She was very weak and had night sweats but your wonderful medicine completely cured us both. It's the best I ever used or heard of." For sore lungs, coughs, colds, hemorrhage, lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, whooping cough,—all bronchial troubles,—its supreme. Trial bottle free. 50c. and $1.00. ONLY WOMAN AVIATOR FALLS—INTO MATRIMONY.

New York American.

For the brief space of two weeks America had a woman aviator in the person of Miss Blanche Stuart Scott, of Rochester, N. Y. But because Miss Scott suddenly became Mrs. Lucian Tuttle, of Dayton, Ohio, there is now a vacancy. Any venturesome young lady ambitious to secure the job of America's only woman aeroplane driver will have to give Glenn H. Curtiss an iron-clad copper-riveted guarantee that she is absolutely immune from the matrimonial bacilli.

Mrs. Tuttle, as Miss Blanche Scott, of Rochester, achieved fame last summer by driving across the continent, without a male escort, in forty-one days. When she reached the Pacific coast she made a short flight in F. B. Roehrig's biplane.

Her interests led her as one of his professional aviators. After a week's practice she made several successful flights at Hammondsport. Then she was sent to fill an exhibition date at Fort Wayne, Ind. She was successful. On her way back East to fill another engagement she stopped off at Dayton, O. to visit the home of the Tuttles, who are principal owners of the Stoddard Dayton Automobile Factory.

Two days later Mr. Curtiss was dumbfounded to receive this telegram: "Will you release me from my contract? I want to get married."

Curtiss did not parley. He knew it was useless. He released Miss Scott by telegraph and threw in his blessing.

She became Mrs. Lucian Tuttle shortly before the holidays. Mr. Tuttle does not want her to fly any more. But Dayton is the breeding place of aeroplanes.

Jack's Return

By OLIVE EDNA MAY

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Maggie was a fisher lass—that is, she belonged to fisher folk—on the Maine coast. Her work was digging for clams and selling them. One day a boat from a ship that had just entered the port came up to where Maggie was digging for clams. It was commanded by the third mate, a young fellow of twenty, and when Maggie stopped work and turned to look at the party stepping ashore, shading her eyes from the sun with her hand, her hair falling down on her white neck, her shapely feet, without shoes or stockings, the young officer rejoiced at the sight. There was a certain native grace about her that struck his fancy. And he was equally comely.

When Jack Winslow sailed away he left his heart behind and carried a heart with him. He would not be at that port again for three years, and Maggie's friends all said: "He's time enough to get a dozen sweethearts. Sailors have one in every port." But no one said the same about Maggie. They all knew that her innocent heart, having once been caught, would not swerve from the handsome sailor boy who had captured it.

Letters were not frequent between them. The young man was always moving, and communication was not easy. But when a letter came to Maggie it was all the more precious. She would hide it sometimes for a day or two, that she might revel in the anticipation of what there was in it. And when, touching at some foreign port, Jack received one from Maggie he would go up in the foretop to read the misspelled words over and over again.

One day Maggie opened a letter from Jack after an interval of silence that had lasted three months. This was fully a month longer interval than any that had occurred. Maggie ran away to the top of a dune and sat herself down in the sage grass that was quite long enough to conceal her to read her letter. It told her that something had happened to Jack which would surely kill her love for him. He did not tell her what it was, and the poor girl was in an agony both of sympathy and of disappointment. Jack told her that he would never write her again, but he assured her that he loved her the same and would never have another sweetheart. Indeed, he added, no girl would be his sweetheart. Maggie concealed the bad news she had received, keeping it in her own innocent bosom. But those about her saw plainly that some misfortune had happened to her, and all shook their heads and said: "I told you so. A lass who loves a sailor is always to be pitied. He's deserted her doubtless for a half civilized creature that he has met in some port on the other side of the world."

This happened about a year after Jack had sailed away. One day Maggie's little brother Ben was throwing stones on the beach where Maggie was digging for clams. A large stone he threw with great force accidentally struck her in the temple. Maggie was laid up for a few days, when she was again at her work. But one day soon after this upon closing one eye to get a better focus on a ship that was coming into the offing she discovered a blur before the eye that remained open. It was not long before the sight of this eye—it was on the side of her head that had been hit by little Ben—was completely lost. Then it began to affect the other eye, and within eighteen months of the time the accident occurred Maggie was entirely blind.

Grave as was this calamity, it was nothing compared with Maggie's disappointment in her love. She felt that trouble as keenly as the day she received Jack's letter. She began at once to get used to her blindness, but she could not get used to the loss of her lover.

Her only comfort was that she believed Jack was sincere in saying that he would never have any other sweetheart. While her friends did not believe that the sailor was true to her in any sense, they refrained from twitting her with his unfaithfulness.

Maggie continued her work—for blind people develop the sense of touch in place of sight—and was happier while occupied than while idle. One day her mother told her that the ship that Jack had sailed in was coming into port. Maggie ran far up the beach to get away by herself. But in time she was obliged to return and on entering the house felt herself clasped in a pair of strong arms and heard her name spoken in Jack Winslow's familiar voice.

"My trouble will not longer keep us apart, Maggie, dear," he said. "It is all right now. But I'm sorry for you, sweetheart, that you can't any more see the beautiful world."

"And you."

"Never mind me, darling. You shall live in comfort the rest of your life. We fell in with a disabled ship on the voyage home, and my share of the prize money will keep us comfortable."

The trouble that Jack had spoken of in his letter was plain to all except Maggie. At Singapore he had caught the smallpox, and for want of attention his face, which had been handsome, was now a sight to behold. It was this that had induced him to break off with Maggie, but he had met one who knew of her blindness, and, knowing that she would not see his ugliness, he had returned to her.

Greensboro's percentage of increase was 58, Wilmington's 23, Raleigh's 52, Asheville's 28, Salisbury's 12. Of this group Greensboro was the leader in growth. We repeat it, the population figures for this city are not half bad. Let's make the city several times more progressive than it is large.

The principal argument of President Finley, of the Southern, for the retention of the rule requiring mileage to be exchanged for tickets is that the railroads without this rule cannot have an infallible system of accounting in this particular part of its business. Is all the business of the railroads done on a basis of infallibility?

By a strange coincidence Guilford county's growth in the past ten years was at approximately the same rate as Greensboro's growth. In the case of the county the percentage of increase was 55 while the percentage of increase for the city was 58. A good showing all around. There is every reason for the people of this city and county to feel encouraged by the growth in population in the last decade.

Mr. C. A. Stockard, of East Whittington street, calls the attention of The Telegram to a little pamphlet in which he believes many readers would be interested. It is an account, published and sold by the Randleman News, Randleman, N. C., of the murder of Naomi Wise something like 100 years ago. The price of the pamphlet is 25 cents. It gives in a vivid way the details of one of the most horrible murders ever committed in the State.

The "Back to The Farm" slogan doesn't seem to have been used to any great extent in Durham county, or if it was used it had the opposite from the desired effect. Durham city gained decisively, jumping from 6,679 to 18,241. But the rural districts of Durham county lost in population falling from 19,554 in 1900 to 17,035 in 1910. The rural districts of Durham county thus afford a singular contrast to the rural districts of Guilford county which have grown right along with the county seat.

WORKING FOR A NEW KIND OF DISTINCTION.

Some time ago Mr. George W. Perkins retired from the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. to devote himself to work of a public nature. A recent utterance of his was:

There must be a showdown. There must be entire publicity of corporation accounts, to show just how much capital is really making.

This—far from being a danger—is the only safe policy to pursue.

The day of getting away with improper profits is done, the day of getting along with proper profits remains.

This utterance was more than could have been hoped for from a man whose association and surroundings have been those of Mr. Perkins. Evidently this man has seen a light. He said the other day that he had made up his mind that a man could no longer obtain distinction in America by the mere making of money—that was too common. "He implied," says the New York American referring to his remarks, "that for the future the highest and most distinguished reputations in this country will be achieved by men who could be enormously rich but won't—men who devote exceptional financial talents to the solution of economic problems—in the interest of the people."

Mr. Perkins seems to have reached the conclusion that it requires some ability to rob the people and then let the money drift back to them in the form of benefactions, but that it is a more creditable thing to refrain from robbing them at the outset.

A few years ago, the proposition that the great corporations whose products have so much to do with the cost of living should show their books would have been laughed at. When the passenger rate question was up in this State we believe one of the railroads did remove the veil of secrecy from its affairs sufficiently to let the State's attorneys examine its books for two years previous—but back of that time never!

And so it is remarkable to find a man of the Perkins type and environment declaring that the public has a right to know just how much capital is really making. This is the contention that has been made all along by the "fanatics," as they were called. It is not that they who argue thus are animated by hatred of the rich. They are not. They want the light turned on. And, with the information thus obtained, they want fair laws impartially administered.

Mr. Perkins has a promising field of endeavor. If he sticks to his program and fights a good fight, his name will be written in the history of the social fabric of this country. We hope that more multi-millionaires will follow his example.

VENUS AND EARTH TWINS

Professor See Is Sure There Are People on the Planet.

San Francisco Dispatch in New York Herald.

Prof. T. J. J. See, director of the Naval Observatory at Mare Island, who is certain that the planet Venus is inhabited by human beings, discussing the matter, said recently:

"Venus is the twin sister of the earth, with an abundance of air, water, vapor, clouds, continents, oceans and rivers, and therefore we must conclude that this most beautiful of the worlds is inhabited by intelligent beings such as we find on the planet earth.

"The view that the planet Venus certainly is habitable is almost new in science and it has been brought into especial prominence by my recent investigations of the origin of the solar system, in which I proved that Venus rotates more rapidly than the earth, having a day of about 23 hours.

"The late Professor Sciaparelli, of Milan, Italy, found by observation that Venus has a smaller obliquity than the earth, so that the seasons of Venus are similar to those on our own planet.

"The year on Venus is 225 days long, as measured by our standard of time, and as the seasons are similar to ours, with alteration of day and night, as with us, the planet is undeniably habitable in every respect."

Washington Dispatch in New York World.

Women stand little show of curing themselves of nerves and temper, according to Dr. Enrico Serafini, of Italy, who says silence is the only cure for neurasthenia and all nervous disorders.

"Nervous depression and neurasthenia are due—it results after diligent research"—said Dr. Serafini today, "to a tendency to talk too much. Now, to talk does not mean to sound letters, but a mental effort which excites the entire nervous system. The effort of thinking of making up hprases, of listening to and forming arguments with hearers, of being attentive to them, of coordinating the thread of conversation. All these things intensify a general awakening of the person, which finally results in a nervous breakdown.

"Persons who are not loquacious, medical records show, have always been remarked for their good health, and this silence is directly related with the first order of a doctor gives his patient—that of absolute quiet."

Blobbs—"He's a cheap sport." Slobbs—"I don't know about that. I was out with him last night, and I found him rather expensive."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together, and until the last few years was ssupposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

AT TAFT'S RECEPTION

Washington Correspondence New York Tribune.

No one appeared to enjoy the reception more than Speaker Cannon. A friend said to him: "I hope you will have a happy New Year, 'Uncle Joe,'" and he laughingly responded: "Yes, I will if I have everything my own way." He made himself perfectly at home, told of his trip to Danville, where he found the whole family ill from tonsilitis, and remarked: "I was too hardened to catch it. I left that to my daughter Helen."

Senator Depew left the more fashionable crowd in the Blue and Green rooms and spent some time in the East Room greeting his friends and telling an occasional story that elicited a laugh from his listeners.

There was a touch of domestic life in the Blue Room, when Charley Taft stole quietly in and proceeded to hold a little reception of his own. Many persons put their arms across his shoulders, invited him to sit on the arm of a chair by them or engaged him in a confidential chat. Miss Constance Wickersham also was in the Blue Room. She is a little miss of 14, in short frocks, blue, today, and she wore a childish black velvet hat with pink roses.

Mrs. Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt were among the favorites in the Blue Room. They were greeted by a host of old friends, who constantly surrounded them, some of them recalling the first time they saw Miss Ethel, now a tall blond girl, in the Blue Room, then just a slip of a child, her hair tied with pink ribbons. Kermit Roosevelt stopped and greeted all of the old officers about the White House before going to the Blue Room, for each of whom he had some pleasant word. He, too, was greeted by many old friends.

When a cripple on crutches went by the President held his hand a moment and said: "I thank you so much for coming to wish me a happy New Year."

Each of the babies in arms received special recognition, a touch on the cheek, a grasp of the tiny hands and a compliment for the mother. The little boys, too, came in for a big share of the President's attention. To one, at least, the big Executive must have seemed to be almost a little boy himself, for after the little fellow got well by he turned suddenly, caught the President's twinkling eye, and turned and ran to him! There was then a general scramble of the uniformed aids, whose swords clanked as they surrounded the little chap and headed him for the right door.

The President was especially gracious to all the old people in the line. Whenever a very old woman or a very old man came to be presented he held their hand a second or two just to stop the hustle and hurry and make them feel the more at home. Not a few old ladies stopped the procession for a minute while they passed a word with their host, some telling hi mhow many Presidents they had greeted, while others slowly told him how happy they were to great him and wish him a happy New Year.

RALEIGH THEATRE GOERS AROUSED

Raleigh, Jan. 5.—Raleigh theatergoers are chafing under one of the least attractive and altogether unsatisfactory theatrical seasons this city has experienced in years, there being not only a dirth of plays of any sort but attractions of any merit at all are decidedly the exception. The plays of any reputation or merit at all that have been brought to the Academy of Music this season could be more than counted on the fingers of a single hand. A change of local management that has taken place in the midst of the season has anything but helped the situation. One economically good result, it is said, is that not a few people who were wont to be too constant in their devotion to the theater for their financial good are getting out of the "habit" and a steady dwindling of the average patronge is noticeable. Work on the muinicipal building and auditorium is progressing steadily and it is the hope now that the auddtorium will afford opportunity for a progressive management to open a standard theater with equipment and up-keep that will be first class.

Charters are issued as follows: The Perkins-Green Company, of Oxford, general merchandise; authorized capital $50,000. The stockholders are L. F. Perkins and others. Ring Furniture Company, of Kernersville, authorized capital $50,000. The stockholders are S. G. Ring, and others. The capital of the North Carolina Bessemer Company, of Durham, is reduced from $100,250 to $25,000. The Piper Roofing Company increases its capital from $10,000 to $25,000.

Charles B. Plyler, who is under sentence to be elecrocuted January 20 for the murder of Carter Parks, is endeavoring through his attorneys to secure from Governor Kitchin a commutation to life imprisonment. Plyler was convicted at the August term of Wake Superior Court and sentenced to the electric chair. The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the lower court and Governor Kitchin set January 20th as the date of the electrocution. Plyler has just made a statement implicating Van Richardson and Will Funderburk and they have been arrested.

General satisfaction is felt here over the showing made by Raleigh in the 19100 enumeration of the population of North Carolina cities just announced by the census officials. The figures give Raleigh a population of 19,218, a gain of 5,565 during the past decade, or 40.8 per cent. This city has not been on a boom, but is enjoying a gradual, healthy growth that is gratifying. Many new enterprises are springing up giving a diversity to the industrial interests of the State's capital. The enumeration of the list of cities just sent out from Washington places Raleigh at the top and therefore it is the third largest city in the State, the population of Charlotte and Wilmington having been announced some time ago.

AT THE LIBRARY

Valuable Publication Received From Major Harper, of Lenoir.

The public library has just received from Major G. W. F. Harper, of Lenoir, a valuable little publication of 69 pages bearing the title "Caldwell County, N. C., In the Great War of 1861-'5, by Walter Clark and G. W. F. Harper."

The contents include the program of exercises given upon unveiling a Confederate monument in Lenior June 3, 1910, a most interesting history of the monument which was erected by the Vance chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, the eloquent address of Judge Walter Clark on this occasion, and a brief history of the Fifty Eighth Regiment (Infantry) N. C. Troops, written originally in 1901 by Major Harper for the N. C. Regimental History.

The whole is an interesting addition to the historical department and is heartily appreciated.

It will be remembered that the library is also indebted to Major Harper for a memorial of Miss Emma L. Rankin, an eminently useful and successful teacher, who was a sister of Mrs. J. K. Hall, of this city. Miss Rankin's reminiscence of Stoneman's Raid is bound with the memorial volume.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickeled, and easily polished.

MRS EDDY TO RISE, TEACHER INSISTS.

New York World.

Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, founder of the First Church of Christ Scientist of this city, who was excommunicated last summer, reaffirmed, in a dictated statement last night, her firm belief that Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy will arise from the tomb and reassume leadership of the Church. Her statement was made as a reply to those church members who have scoffed at the idea of Mrs. Eddy's resurrection. Mrs. Stetson said:

"If another would rise from the thousands who have been taught the Science of Christianity, the spiritual facts being, and would defend the teachings of Mary Baker Eddy, and admit the possibilities of her final demonstration, I would not be forced to testify to my convictions that she will prove the victory over death and the tomb, the illusions of corporal sense which must vanish under the radium of Spirt.

"Mrs. Eddy gained her understanding of spiritual facts of being by her study of the Bible, from Genesis to Revelation. Many do not seem to be able to grasp that she was God-inspired and God-anointed to reveal the deep things.

"Again is consciousness agitated as to the possibility or impossibility of eternal life, after seeming death, a demonstration which was made two thousand years ago by the Nazarene.

"The inability of the unillumined human mind to grasp divine metaphysics, and to discern man's openness with God, Spirit, cannot prevent the verification of Scripture.

"Our God-anointed leader, Mary Baker Eddy, says: 'The foam and fury of illegitimate living and of fearful and doleful dying should disappear on the shore of time; then the waves of sin, sorrow and death beat in vain.' (S. & H. p. 203.)

"Again on this subject, Mrs. Eddy speaks of unmistakable terms, arguing for the supremacy of the immortal consciousness, and the manifestation of the spiritual man:

"A supposition gust of evil in this evil world is the dark hour that precedes the dawn. This gust blows away the baubles of belief, for there is in reality no evil, no disease, no death; and the Chrictian Scientist who believes that he dies gains a rich blessing of disbelief in death, and a higher realizaton of heaven.

"My beloved Edward A. Kimball, whose clear, correct teaching of Christian Science has been, and is, an inspiration to the whole field, is here now as veritably as when he visited me a year ago. If we would awaken to this recognition we should see him here and realize that he never died, thus demonstrating the fundamental truth of Christian Science.

"Christian Scientists are pressing forward to the goal of immortality. The second demonstrator of Truth, Mary Baker Eddy, will not leave the valley and shadow of death unconquered, or fail in her sublime victory over the dream of life, truth, intelligence and substance in matter.

"I note, with deep appreciation, that the columns of the press of this city accord me equal rights with man to express my Christian convictions.

"The holy life and example and Christly teachings of this godly woman, Mary Baker Eddy, who followed the master in his demonstration, even to enter the valley and shadow of death, are incentives to her followers to watch for her reappearance lest, coming quickly, she find them sleeping."

FOLEY'S KIDNEY PILLS

Are tonic in action, quick in results. A special medicine for all kidney and bladder disorders. Mary C. Abbott, Wolfeboro, N. I was so lame in my feet, joints, and back that it was agony for me to step. I used Foley's Kidney Pills for three days when I was able to get up and move about and the pains were all gone. Look For the Hose With This Mark on the Toes

There are many kinds of guaranteed hosiery but they are all imitations of the original "Holeproof."

When your husband goes out to buy sox, tell him to insist on "Holeproof"—tell him to look on the toes for our trademark.

This means more than you think—it means that if any holes appear within six months we give you new hosiery free.

But that is not all, the hosiery itself is more stylish and comfortable than any other on the market.

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The makers use only the finest and softest cotton from Egypt and the Sea Islands. They pay 63 cents a pound, but could buy ordinary cotton at 12 cents a pound.

The yarn is three-ply in the body and doubled to six-ply in the heels, toes and knees. Common hosiery is made of two-ply yarn throughout yet it costs you as much as "Holeproof."

Comfort is supreme in "Holeproof"—the fabric is as soft and smooth as silk. Style is increased for the hosiery is shaped to fit the ankle like a glove fits the hand.

Men's hose come in eleven attractive colors and women's in six. Price $1.50 to $3 a box of six pairs. Children's hose, in black and tan, at $2 a box of six pairs. Please come in and see this hosiery today—it costs no more than the ordinary.

MISS WILSON TO SING FOR VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Advent of Daughter of Secretary of Suffragette Ranks Welcomed.

New York World.

As a suffrage welcome to the new year, the Fourteenth Asembly District headquatrers of Mrs. Belmont's Political Equity Association will hold a large rally tonight and introduce a series of top-liners in the movement.

Miss Flora Wilson, daughter of James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, will sing as well as speak for votes for women. Dr. Anna Shaw will address the meeting. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont will bring a party, and the opening of 1911 will be made a memorable event. Miss Wilson's advent in the ranks of the vote-seekers is looked upon as a significant sign of the times, and she will receive a rousing reception.

To bring some local color into the programme for the evening, Miss Donnely, who is in charge of the headquarters, has added some numbers to be furnished the neighborhood clientele.

Mme. Gardner Bartlett has opened the Headquarters' Singing School, in which Mme. Nordica is deeply interested. The diva will herself be present on Saturday night to rehearse the singers. Young folk over sixteen of both sexes are invited to join. The Singing School is free. The Suffragette Anthem now being set to music will be put in preparation by the chorus as soon as it is ready. Mme. Nordica will personally conduct this training.

One of the latest additions to the headquarters' list of attractions is a dancing class which meets once a week. The recruits are already many. The noonday lunches still continue to be well patronized by both men and women, and suffragette in the headquarters has become a synonym for all the comforts of the home.

A RELIABLE COUGH MEDICINE

Is a valuable friend. Foley's Honey and Tar fulfils this condition exactly. Mrs. Charles Kline, N. 8th St., Easton, Pa., states: "Several members of my family have been cured of bad coughs and colds by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar and I am never without a bottle in the house. It soothes and relieves the irritation in the throat and loosens up the cold. I have always found it a reliable cough cure." Howard Gardner.

"Slow but sure" certainly isn't the motto of the clockmaker.

For LaGrippe, Coughs and Stuffy Colds

Take Foley's Honey and Tar. It gives quick relief and expels the cold from your system. It contains no opiates, is safe and sure. Howard Gardner.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters has no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50c. at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Foley's Kidney Remedy-An Appreciation

L. McConnell, Catherine St., Elmira, N. Y., writes: "I wish to express my appreciation of the great good I derived from Foley's Kidney Remedy, which I used for a bad case of kidney trouble. Five bottles did the work most effectively and proved to me beyond doubt it is the most reliable kidney medicine I have ever taken." Howard Gardner.

Absent-Minded.

"Are you in favor of a high tariff or a low tariff?" asked the suffragette.

"I don't know," answered the very young recruit. "Which would you consider the more becoming?"—Washington Star.

MARK TWAIN

1/2 Price

A New Edition

Now for the first time you get a complete set of all Mark Twain's writings at just exactly one-half the price they have ever been sold before. This is a new edition, just as complete as the old one, which still sells, by the way, at $50.00. This new edition is only $25.00—for the 25 volumes.

It had been Mark Twain's ambition to have his books in every American home, and he made a great personal sacrifice to bring about this remarkable opportunity—for the first time in the history of publishing, copyrighted books are sold at the price of non-copyrighted books—the chance will not come again.

But for Mark Twain's action this would have been impossible. Never before has a copyrighted library set of a standard author's works been issued at such a low figure.

His Complete Works—25 Beautiful Volumes

Brander Matthews says: "Mark Twain will be included in that group of writers headed by Molière and Cervantes. With the exception of Count Tolstoi, Twain was the greatest of recent modern writers, and will be handed down to posterity through the trio of his works 'Huckleberry Finn,' 'Tom Sawyer,' and 'Pudd'nhead Wilson.' Twain is a greater stylist than Stevenson or Thoreau, and his 'Man that Corrupted Hadleyburg' is one of the finest works in English literature." Mark Twain himself wrote a preface to this edition. Brander Matthews has written the biographical criticism of Mark Twain and his work. There are portraits of the author at periods when the different books were in process of writing.

There are beautiful pictures by such artists as Frost, Newell, Smedley, Thulstrup, Clinedinst, Kemble, and Opper. The binding is in rich red rep silk book cloth, with title labels stamped in gold. The books are printed on white antique wove paper, especially made for this edition. Each volume is of generous size and bulk, 5x7¾ inches.

BERTHA WISE IN COURT

Testifies In Case Involving Pistol Wound She Received At Hands of Ferd Gilmer.

Ferd Gilmer, the negro who, on Nov. 29, last, shot Bertha Wise through the breast with a pistol, was brought before Judge Eure yesterday morning. State's evidence was heard and the case continued until Saturday, in order that the defendant may have ample time to procure some testimony that could not be prepared for today. The defendant is represented by Major Chas. M. Stedman and Mr. O. L. Sapp.

At the presentation of the case Judge Eure delivered the opinion that it was not a cause within the jurisdiction of the municipal court. But the prosecuting attorney held that the defendant was indicted under an act giving him (Judge Eure) full power to dispose of the case, which ought to be done rather than to bind the negro over. The law cited is to the effect that unless an assault with a deadly weapon be made in a secret manner, it is not a felony; provided, of course, death does not ensue. The judge seemed to reach the light o the law on this point, but held further that in no case could he sentence a miscreant to the roads for more than a year, but the attorney for the prosecution held that he could.

Bertha Wise, herself, was the first of the five witnesses yesterday morning to testify. She said that there had been no quarrel between herself and Gilmer; that he offered her money, and when she refused, he waited a few minutes, then drew a pistol and shot her, but that he did not seem to be mad. The shot penetrated her breast. Bertha was in bed for three weeks, but perhaps would have been out earlier, had she not contracted pneumonia shortly after receiving the wound. Two other witnesses, who were negro women, told of attempts which Gilmer made to get into Bertha's house on the morning of the shooting. They did not consider him to be of "good sense."

Dr. R. O. Dees, who attended the woman in her illness, told of her suffering, and what part the bullet injury had in it. The revolver produced proved to be a Colt's 44-calibre. The bullet was also produced in court. According to Chief Neelley, who had held a conversation with the defendant, Gilmer and the woman had agreed to live as paramours, and that the one who should be found guilty of wrong conduct should be shot, by the other. Bertha, according to Gilmer, was the first one to be found guilty of breaking the agreement, whereupon he went for her, with the result stated.

There is much speculation as to how Gilmer is coming out. It is thought by some of the negroes that he is somewhat demented, but that he lacks a great deal of being crazy.

constipation permanently by proper personal co-operation with the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, when required. The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is never classed by the well-informed with medicines which make extravagant and unfounded claims to cure habitual constipation without personal co-operation.

Queer Eyes of a Queer Spider.

The attus family of spiders, abounding in Java, have in addition to numerous smaller eyes a pair of large ones which have been called "gig lamp" eyes. A specimen of the spider, captured near Buitenzorg, exhibits a remarkable power of changing the color of its eyes. When taken the eyes were dark brown like the body, but suddenly they changed to bright grass green. Soon afterward they turned back from green to brown, and this change of color was repeated several times in succession, apparently at the will of the creature. Whether this action on the part of this curious species of spider is an effort to inspire terror in its enemy or whether it is an effect of its own terror is uncertain. Another singular fact is that the color of either one or both eyes could thus be changed at will.—Harper's Weekly.
